STS Marks Year of Improvements

Transportation service is well-positioned to support residents and businesses

Rochester Genesee Regional Transportation Authority (RGRTA) and Seneca Transit Service (STS) met for their annual dinner last night at STS offices in Waterloo, NY. RGRTA CEO Bill Carpenter was joined by RGRTA Commissioner Edward W. White, Esq., RGRTA's Chief People and Brand Officer Maryalice Keller, Director of Regional Operations Raymond P. Le Chase Jr. and new STS Regional Manager Mary Mansfield to review the year's activity and recognize employees for exceptional service. The dinner took place at STS' offices at One Di Pronio Drive, Waterloo, NY.

Carpenter said "STS provides quality, convenient and affordable transportation to more than 35,000 customers. We place great importance on staff recognition and that's why we're here tonight. We are marking Bus Operator Don Harris's retirement after 10 years of service and welcoming our new Regional Manager Mary Mansfield. She brings a wealth of experience to the operation and we look forward to a successful year."

Mansfield's background includes positions at RGRTA's office in Rochester and a recent Master's degree in Public Administration from SUNY Brockport.

Employees who were recognized include:

- Bonnie Boyd—Safe Driving Award, Perfect Attendance, Five Years of Service
- Stephen D'Eredita—Safe Driving, Perfect Attendance
- Don Harris—Safe Driving, Perfect Attendance
- Paul Iannopolo Jr.—Perfect Attendance

- William Kanaley—Safe Driving, Perfect Attendance, Five Years of Service
- Pamela Olp—Safe Driving, Perfect Attendance
- Hollis Pop—Safe Driving, Perfect Attendance
- Gordon Trickler—Safe Driving, Perfect Attendance
